As Long as Grass Grows: The Indigenous Fight for Environmental Justice, from Colonization to Standing Rock.

Dina Gilio-Whitaker. Beacon Press. 2019.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 1 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle. 5 print copies.

Through the unique lens of “Indigenized environmental justice,” researcher and activist Dina Gilio-Whitaker explores the fraught history of treaty violations, struggles for food and water security, and protection of sacred sites, while highlighting the leadership of Indigenous women in this centuries-long struggle. As Long As Grass Grows gives readers a history of Indigenous resistance to government and corporate incursions on their lands and offers new approaches to environmental justice activism. This is the story of Native peoples’ resistance to environmental injustice and land incursions, and a call for environmentalists to learn from the Indigenous community’s rich history of activism.

Beating Guns: Hope for People Who are Weary of Violence.,

Shaine Claiborne and Michael Martin. Brazos Press. 2019.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 14 print copies.

Bestselling author and activist Shane Claiborne and Michael Martin show why Christians should be concerned about gun violence and how they can be part of the solution. The authors transcend stale rhetoric about gun control to offer a creative and productive response. Full-color images show how guns are being turned into tools and musical instruments across the nation. Charts, tables, and facts convey the realities of gun violence in America, but as the authors make clear, there is a story behind every statistic. Beating Guns allows victims and perpetrators to tell their own compelling stories, offering hope for change.

The Color of Compromise: The Truth About the American Church’s Complicity in Racism.

Jemar Tisby. Zondervan. 2019.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 3 MP3, Overdrive Listen. 7 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle. 14 print copies.

The Color of Compromise is not a call to shame or a platform to blame White evangelical Christians. Rather, it is a call from a place of love and desire to fight for a more racially unified church that no longer compromises what the Bible teaches about human dignity and equality, and a call that challenges Black and White Christians alike to stand up now and begin implementing change. Here, Tisby outlines concrete ways to bring about a more equitable and inclusive environment among God’s people—starting today.

Conditional Citizens: On Belonging in America.

Laila Lalami. Pantheon. 2020.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 1MP3, Overdrive Listen. 17 print copies.

What does it mean to be American? In this starkly illuminating and impassioned book, Pulitzer Prize Finalist Laila Lalami recounts her unlikely journey from Moroccan immigrant to U.S. citizen, using it as a starting point for her exploration of American rights, liberties, and protections. Tapping into history, politics, and literature, she elucidates how accidents of birth—such as national origin, race, and gender—that once determined the boundaries of Americanness still cast their shadows today. A New York Times Editors' Choice, as well as a Best Book of the Year for Time, NPR, Bookpage, and L.A. Times.

Ecowomanism: African American Women and Earth-Honoring Faiths.

Melanie L Harris. Orbis Books 2017.

Scholarship on African American history and culture has often neglected the tradition of African American women who engage in theological and religious reflection on their ethical and moral responsibility to care for the earth. But in Ecowomanism, Melanie Harris argues that African American women make distinctive contributions to the environmental justice movement in the ways that they theologize, theorize, practice spiritual activism, and come into religious understandings about our relationship with the earth. Incorporating elements of her family history to set the stage for her argument, Harris intersperses her academic reflections with her own personal stories and anecdotes.

Ghosts in the Schoolyard: Racism and School Closings on Chicago's South Side.

Eve. L. Ewing. University of Chicago Press. 2018.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 1 MP3, Overdrive, Listen. 6 print copies.

Dr. Eve Louise Ewing is a sociologist whose research is focused on racism, social inequality, urban policy, and the impact of these forces on American public schools and young people. Here, Ewing takes a hard look at Chicago Public Schools. While people talk about them with a mix of pity and contempt, Ewing knows them from the inside: as a student, then a teacher, and now a scholar who studies them. That perspective has shown her public schools are not buildings full of failures but an integral part of their neighborhoods, at the heart of their communities, storehouses of history and memory that bring people together.

Me and White Supremacy: Combat Racism, Change the World, and Become a Good Ancestor.

Layla Saad. Sourcebooks. 2020.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 64 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle. 18 MP3, Overdrive Listen. 3 Audio disc. 41 print copies. 4 Large print.

Awareness leads to action, and action leads to change. This eye-opening book challenges readers to do the essential work of unpacking biases, and helps White people take action and dismantle the privilege within themselves to stop (often unconsciously) inflicting damage on people of color, and in turn, help other White people do better, too. Based on the viral Instagram challenge that captivated participants worldwide, Me and White Supremacy takes readers on a 28-day journey, complete with journal prompts, to do the necessary and vital work that can ultimately lead to improving race relations.

The Nickel Boys.

Colson Whitehead. Doubleday. 2019.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 6 Audio media player. 74 print copies. 29 Audio disc. 21 MP3, Overdrive Listen. 1 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle.

When Elwood Curtis, a Black boy in 1960s Tallahassee, is unfairly sentenced to a juvenile reformatory called the Nickel Academy, he finds himself trapped in a chamber of horrors. Elwood's only salvation is his friendship with fellow "delinquent" Turner, which deepens despite Turner's conviction that Elwood is hopelessly naive, the world is crooked, and the only way to survive is to scheme and avoid trouble. Based on the real story of a reform school that operated for 111 years and warped the lives of thousands, The Nickel Boys dramatizes another strand of American history through the story of two boys unjustly sentenced.

The Rage of Innocence: How American Criminalizes Black Youth.

Kristin Henning. Pantheon. 2021.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 1 MP3, Overdrive Listen. 1 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle. 29 print copies.

Drawing upon 25 years of representing Black youth in Washington, D.C.'s juvenile courts, Henning confronts America's irrational, manufactured fears of these young people and makes a powerfully compelling case that the crisis in racist American policing begins with its relationship to Black children. Henning explains how discriminatory, aggressive policing has socialized a generation of Black teenagers to fear, resent, and resist police, and she details the long-term consequences of racism that they experience at the hands of police and their vigilante surrogates. Unlike White youth, Black youth are seen as a threat and are denied healthy adolescent development.

Saving Us: A Climate Scientist's Case for Hope and Healing in a Divided World.

Katharine Hayhoe, Atria/One Signal Publishers. 2021.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 2 MP3, Overdrive Listen. 2 Audio disc. 12 print copies. 2 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle

In Saving Us, Canadian climate scientist Hayhoe argues that when it comes to changing hearts and minds, facts are only one part of the equation. We need to find shared values in order to connect our unique identities to collective action. This is not another doomsday narrative about a planet on fire. It is a multilayered look at science, faith, and human psychology from an icon in her field—recently named chief scientist at The Nature Conservancy. Drawing on interdisciplinary research and personal stories, Hayhoe shows that small conversations can have astonishing results.

The Sum of Us: What Racism Costs Everyone.

Heather McGhee. One World. 2021.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 1 MP3, Overdrive Listen. 1 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle. 59 print copies.

Heather McGhee's specialty is the American economy—and the mystery of why it often fails the American public. From the financial crisis of 2008 to rising student debt to collapsing public infrastructure, she found a root problem: racism in politics and policymaking. But not just in the most obvious indignities for people of color. Racism has costs for White people, too. McGhee embarks on a journey across the country from Maine to Mississippi to California, tallying what we lose when we buy into the zero-sum paradigm—the idea that progress for some of us must come at the expense of others.

Until I am Free: Fannie Lou Hamer's Enduring Message to America.

Keisha N Blain. Beacon Press. 2021.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 2 MP3, Overdrive Listen. 1 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle. 20 print copies.

Award-winning historian and bestselling author Blain situates Fannie Lou Hamer as a key political thinker alongside leaders such as Martin Luther King Jr., Malcolm X, and Rosa Parks and demonstrates how her ideas remain salient for a new generation of activists committed to dismantling systems of oppression. Despite her limited material resources and the myriad challenges she endured as a Black woman living in poverty in Mississippi, Hamer committed herself to making a difference in the lives of others. A blend of social commentary, biography, and intellectual history, the book is a manifesto for anyone committed to social justice.

Willful Defiance: The Movement to Dismantle the School-To-Prison Pipeline,

Mark Warren. Oxford University Press. 2021.

In Willful Defiance, Warren—professor of public policy and public affairs at the University of Massachusetts Boston—documents how Black and Brown parents, students, and low-income communities of color organized to dismantle the school-to-prison pipeline in their local schools and built an intersectional movement that spread across the country. Examining organizing processes in Mississippi, Los Angeles, Chicago, and other localities, he shows how relatively small groups of community members built the power to win policy changes to reduce suspensions and expulsions by combining deep local organizing with resources from the national movement.

Echoes of Grace

Guadalupe Garcia McCall. TU Books. 2022. Youth.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 2 HTML, Adobe EPub, Kindle. 23 print copies.

This triumphant new novel explores sisterhood, family secrets, intergenerational trauma, life, and love in a modern Gothic setting with a magical realist twist. In Eagle Pass, Texas, Grace struggles to understand the echoes she inherited from her mother's visions, which often distort her reality. One morning, a disturbing echo takes hold of Grace, and tragedy strikes. As Grace's echoes bring ghosts and premonitions, they also bring memories of when Grace fled to Mexico to the house of her maternal grandmother—a woman who Grace had been told died long ago. Will piecing together the truth heal her, or will the echoes destroy everything she holds dear?

Saving American Beach: The Biography of African American Environmentalist Mavynee Betsch.

Heidi Tyline King. G.P. Putnam's Sons Books For Young Readers. 2021. Children.

Wayne Co. Library clevnet: 25 print copies.

This heartfelt biography tells the story of MaVynee Betsch, an African American opera singer turned environmentalist and the legacy she preserved. Betsch loved going to the beach. But in the days of Jim Crow, most of the beaches in Jacksonville were for Whites only. Her grandfather bought a beach that African American families could enjoy without being reminded they were second class citizens; he called it American Beach. After the beach fell into disrepair, Betsch remembered the importance of American Beach and began her second act as a conservationist, ultimately saving the place that always felt most like home.

Black Was the Ink – Novel. Michelle Coles with illustrations by Justin Johnson. TU Books. 2021. After escalating violence in his D.C. neighborhood, 16-year-old Malcolm is shipped off by his mother to his father’s family farm in Mississippi. Malcolm is anything but pleased. Then he encounters the ghost of his ancestor, Cedric Johnson, and journeys to 1866. As Cedric, Malcolm meets the real-life Black statesmen who fought for change during the Reconstruction era and made American history. But even after witnessing their bravery, Malcolm’s faith in his own future remains shaky, particularly since he knows the gains these statesmen made were almost immediately stripped away. Malcolm must decide which path to take. Can Cedric’s experiences help him construct a better future? Or will Malcolm resign himself to resentments and defeat? Suitable for youth.

Caste: The Origins of Our Discontents. Isabel Wilkerson. Random House. 2020. In this brilliant book, Isabel Wilkerson gives us a masterful portrait of an unseen phenomenon in America as she explores, through an immersive, deeply researched narrative and stories about real people, how America today and throughout its history has been shaped by a hidden caste system. Linking the caste systems of America, India, and Nazi Germany, Wilkerson explores eight pillars that underlie caste systems across civilizations, including divine will, bloodlines, stigma, and more. Using riveting stories about people—including Martin Luther King Jr.—she shows the ways the insidious undertow of caste is experienced every day, ultimately pointing to ways America can move beyond the artificial and destructive separations of human divisions toward hope.

The Four Winds – Novel. Kristin Hannah. St. Martin's Press. 2021.

Bestselling author Kristin Hannah delivers a powerful epic about love, heroism and hope during the Great Depression, when millions were out of work and even the land seemed to have turned against them. Centered on Elsa Wolcott, married to a Great Plains farmer whose land is ravaged by dust storms and drought, each day has become a desperate battle against nature and a fight to keep her children alive. Elsa must make an agonizing choice: fight for the land she loves or leave it behind and go west in search of a better life for her family. The Four Winds is a rich, sweeping novel that stunningly brings to life the Great Depression and the people who lived through it—the harsh realities that divided us as a nation and the enduring battle between the haves and have-nots.

Midnight Teacher: Lilly Ann Granderson and Her Secret School. Janet Halfmann and London Ladd, Illustrator. Lee & Low Books. 2018.

In 19th century Mississippi, it was illegal for enslaved people to learn to read and write. But this did not stop Lilly Ann Granderson, an enslaved person who started a midnight school and taught hundreds of her peers to do so. Many shared their knowledge and others forged passes to escape to freedom. Based on a true story, Midnight Teacher is an inspiring testament to a little-known pioneer in education.

Six By Ten: Stories From Solitary. Taylor Pendergrass and Mateo Koke, Editors. HayMarket Books. 2018. An estimated 80,000 Americans are held in solitary confinement across the country, often in cells no bigger than six by ten feet, with 24 hours per day of little or no meaningful human contact. This book shares first-person narratives of prisoners, family members, and corrections officers and explores the mental, physical and spiritual impacts of America's widespread embrace of this punishment.

Storming the Wall Climate Change, Migration and Homeland Security. Todd Miller. City Lights Books. 2017.

This book connects the dots between climate-ravaged communities, the corporations cashing in on border militarization, and emerging movements for environmental justice and sustainability. Reporting from the flashpoints of climate clashes and from likely sites of future battles, Miller chronicles a growing system of militarized divisions. Stories of crisis, greed and violence are juxtaposed with powerful examples of solidarity and hope in this urgent and timely message.

They Will Inherit the Earth: Peace and Nonviolence in a Time of Climate Change. John Dear. Orbis Books. 2018.

At his Sermon on the Mount, Jesus makes the connection between our practice of nonviolence and our unity with creation. From that, this book extrapolates that our rejection of nonviolence is inevitably linked to the catastrophic effects of climate change and environmental ruin. These personal stories of John Dear's life and work invite us to return to nonviolence as a way of life and a living solidarity with earth and its creatures.

The Water Walker. Joanne Robertson. Second Story Press. 2017. Picture book.

An Ojibwe grandmother (nokomis) loves nibi (water). Nokomis walks to raise awareness of our need to protect nibi for future generations and for all life on the planet. She and others have walked around all the Great Lakes from the four salt waters, or oceans, to Lake Superior. The walks are full of challenges, and by her example she challenges us to take responsibility for protecting our water and to protect our planet for all generations.

Where Will I Live? Rosemary McCarney. Second Story Press. 2017. Pictorial work.

This stunning photo essay with images from the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees examines the thousands of children around the world who have been forced to flee war, terror, hunger and natural disasters. The images will help unaffected children understand not only what this must feel like but also how very lucky they are. The final message is that children, even with uncertain futures, are resilient and can face uncertainty with optimism.
